THE CROWS' NEST

PASS FESTIVAL

Ronald W. Gibson has returned from adjudicating at the Crows Nest Pass musical festival held at Blairmore, Alberta, for three days in October, on the 25th, 26th and 27th. Burton L. Kurth assisted by Wallace H. Gillman, both formerly of Winnipeg, and now of Vancouver, were the judges last year.

This year's festival competitors totaled 1,065, and the number of classes 79, and they represented about twelve towns in Alberta and British Columbia. Mr. Gibson referred especially to the interest taken in instrumental music and considered the piano and violin work of excellent quality—it was equal to much heard in the same classes at the Winnipeg festival, and it spoke well for the local teaching. There were three string quartet entries and four trios, six violin and piano teams, and two splendid orchestras. The singing of the little children was a feature.

The community has shown fine enterprise in engaging a professional school music teacher, who teaches music in five schools throughout five towns in the Pass. These all competed, and although the work only started in September, it is already showing good results. The idea is that as teachers in the school become proficient in music the present position will then develop into that of a music supervisor. Mr. Gibson explained. This definitely gives all the schools a chance and they are not up against the possibility of having a talented person one year and losing that person the next.

There is a paucity of adult singers, but the sample from them was very creditable, it appears. The adjudicator's job at this festival, which extends its influence over so encouragingly wide an area, is by no means an easy one. Mr. Gibson started at 9 a.m. and finished at 12 p.m. each day, but in spite of the long busy hours, he heartily enjoyed his visit. "The scenery is so beautiful and ever-changing in aspect as the clouds play around the mountain tops, and the air is bracing—the altitude is 4,300 feet—and everybody seems very much alive," he declared. "I heard no depression talk, and if there is any depression they don't parade it."—Winnipeg Free Press.

WRESTLING AT COLEMAN

A big double-header wrestling programme is to be staged at the Coleman Community hall on Saturday night, promoted by Frank Barrington.

Bonnie Muir, 210-lb. Australian champ, will engage Van Winters, of Chattanooga, Tennessee, 205 lbs; and Al Karasick, 200-pounder, of Seattle, will try conclusions with 206-pound Sam Leathers, of San Diego, California. All four are experienced and renowned mat men and will ensure interesting bouts.

The Gillingham Mutual Telephone Company has been incorporated under the Companies Act of the Province of Alberta as a limited company. The capital of the company is $1,000, divided into 1000 shares of $1.00 each. The office of the company is at Cowley.

Members of the Blairmore hockey and baseball clubs and their wives and lady friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Vejprava on Wednesday night of last week, to observe the tenth anniversary of their wedding. During the evening cards were played with Mrs. D. Kemp, Jr., and William Johnson winning the honors. Following whist, Mr. and Mrs. Vejprava were presented with a beautiful set of sherbet glasses. Luncheon was served and the party broke up at midnight.

DEATH OF HENRY INSTONE

Residents of The Pass district were shocked yesterday afternoon to learn of the sudden passing of Mr. Henry Instone, of Hillcrest, in his 48th year. Having worked his usual shift the day previous, he complained of not being well during the night and the doctor was called in the early hours of Wednesday, and despite all effort he passed away about 2:30 in the afternoon, leaving to mourn a wife and daughter, aged 11 years.

Mr. Instone was born in Wales, Staff, England, and came direct to Hillcrest twenty years ago. He held the position of fire boss with the Hillcrest Collieries for the past fifteen years, the last eight of which he had acted as mine safety engineer and first aid superintendent at the mines. Deceased was a charter member of Turtle Mountain Lodge, K. of P.; charter member of Blairmore Lodge, B.P.O.E.; member of Hillcrest Miners' Literary and Athletic Association, and trustee of Hillcrest School District, 1916. He was very prominent in the St. John Ambulance and First Aid work and instructor in The Pass. He was always active in community work, especially that of the younger folks. He took a keen interest in horticulture and was a constant exhibitor and member of the Bellevue Horticultural Society, serving for a number of years as a director.

Funeral service will be held from the Knights of Pythias hall, Hillcrest, on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with the Elks' graveside service at the cemetery.

FORMER FRANKIE KILLED

A despatch recently to Mr. Adam Hamilton, of Westville, Nova Scotia, conveyed the sad news that his brother, Jack Hamilton was instantly killed in the Canadian West.

Jack was well known in Westville, where he was for years a prominent cricketer and sportsman. He left Westville quite a number of years ago, going to Frank, Alberta.

As we go to press, we are not aware of just what part of the Canadian West Jack was killed in.

SPECIAL HOLIDAY

FARES OFFERED

In an effort to meet the requirements of the travelling public over the Christmas and New Year holidays, special holiday rates will be put into effect on both the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railways, according to an announcement made today by J. B. Parker, secretary of the Canadian Passenger Association, western lines.

A feature of the reduced rates is that not only are the individual holidays covered, but a special rate is allowed which takes in the entire holiday time in question.

Return tickets at a fare and a quarter are offered from December 21 to December 25, returning midnight; December 26; and from December 28 to January 1, returning midnight January 2. Fare and a third tickets are offered from December 20 to January 1, returning midnight January 10.

Teachers and students are offered fare and a quarter for round trip, upon presentation of Passenger Association certificate, not more than three days prior, nor three days after closing date of school or college. Return limit is opening date of school or college, but not later than January 31.

Blairmore school pupils did not have a school holiday on Thursday, on the occasion of the marriage of the prince. They celebrated the anniversary of the Russian revolution a few days previous. British subjects are beginning to wonder if it isn't about time for that community to be transplanted lock stock and barrel to Russia where most of its citizens seem to belong.—Ferne Free Press.

ELKS HOLD MEMORIAL SERVICE

Exalted Ruler J. R. McLeod and officers of the lodge opened the service with the Elks' memorial ritual. The Rev. A. E. Larke, gave an inspiring memorial address.

Confidence Is Returning

The year of 1934 is rapidly drawing to a close and people are already turning their thoughts to the coming new year and giving consideration to matters which will command their attention and activities in the next twelve-month period. Already throughout the western provinces municipal councils and school boards have been chosen to which will be entrusted the administration of local community business throughout the new year. And the thoughts of all people are increasingly occupied with what betterment or existing conditions may be looked for in the months that lie ahead.

Unquestionably, people are entertaining a greater degree of confidence that the general economic situation is improving than has been in evidence for some time—the most discouraging feature being the continued political unrest in Europe and the effect which any outbreak there would inevitably have upon the whole world. However, confidence grows that here on this western continent the worst of the great depression is over and we are at last and definitely on the up-grade.

Restoration of confidence is one of the essential requirements to carry the world along the road to betterment, because until that confidence is restored everyone is afraid to venture in any direction, all continuing to live from hand to mouth, thinking only of the necessities of the immediate present instead of in terms of a larger and better future. While an undue and unjustified optimism at this time would be just as fatal in the long run as a continuance of an unjustified pessimism, it is perhaps well that attention should be directed to facts, figures and conditions which provide a sound basis for hopefulness and a greater confidence.

In recent years of financial difficulty and economic depression, many people have come to look with suspicion upon bankers and banking, but the fact remains that our Canadian banking institutions are about the best informed of all organizations as to the exact state of affairs in the Dominion. They have to be. Furthermore, they are always conservative in their stringing up of the general financial, economic and business situation. Banks, as a rule, are not overly enthusiastic or optimistic.

Because the above is true, there is real encouragement to be found in the monthly business summaries and news letters recently issued by the banks of Canada. One of the latest to come to hand is that of the Bank of Montreal. Canada's most conservative banking institution, dated November 23. For the benefit of readers who may not have the opportunity of reading these monthly business summaries, a few facts from this most recent publication may well be quoted.

Reviewing the Canadian situation, the Bank of Montreal says: "Trade has continued its upward trend during the past month, and the winter season opens with conditions generally distinctly better than they were a year ago. A review of the first ten months of the present year shows that of some fifty business indices available forty-five show gains, the majority of a pronounced character. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics index of the physical volume of business, which well sums up the whole, has advanced 21.4 per cent."

It is pointed out, too, that industrial activity is more apparent in a wide variety of trades than at this period in 1933, and that a wider distribution of goods is being made. Both import and export trade is increasing, bank clearings, railway car loadings, mineral production, forests and fisheries all reveal substantial betterments, while even in agriculture, and taking the Dominion as a whole, crops have been more abundant than at one time seemed probable and prices are higher.

Railway car loadings are greater than for several years and at the end of August were 24% higher than in the preceding year. In the month of October, which usually shows a downward tendency, actually increased, the official index reaching 100 (which was the index in 1926) compared with 90.4 and 86.7 in October, 1933 and 1932 respectively. Commercial failures were fewer in 1934 than in any of the preceding three years.

Dominion Government revenues reflect this general improvement, with Customs duties collected in the first ten months of this year 25% greater than in the same ten months of 1933.

Referring to the situation in the United States, the bank summary says: "The past month recorded a partial return to the business activity that has characterized the earlier months of the year."

Steady improvement in Great Britain is recorded. For the ten-month period total trade increased by $22,000,000 over the corresponding period last year; railway traffic increased 4.1% since January 1; the number of persons in employment shows further improvement; British Government securities have reached the highest prices on record for nearly thirty years.

Thus the situation in Canada, United States and Great Britain, in which countries Canada is most vitally interested, is found to be of an encouraging character, making for a greater degree of confidence in the future, which, let it be repeated, is an essential condition to continued and greater improvement.

Prince Sent Prize Cattle

Fine specimens Were in Competition At Chicago Show

Expressing regret that he was unable to attend the thirty-fifth International Live Stock Exposition, at the new million-dollar exposition building at the stock yards in Chicago, the Prince of Wales advised manager B. H. Heide by cable that as was sending five head of Shorthorn cattle and a specimen of Clydesdale draft horse breed to compete. This was the first International show in ten years at which the Prince of Wales has been represented. In 1924 one of his entries, King of the Fairies, carried off the grand championship for bulls. The animal was later sold at a record price to an American breeder.

Corn From South Africa

Enters Canada Duty Free And Saves Poultrymen Money

A cargo of 8,000 pounds of corn arrived recently at Vancouver from South Africa. It is claimed that this shipment saves the British Columbia poultrymen $24,000, as it entered Canada duty free. Until the South African corn arrived, Argentina and United States products were imported, on which there was a duty of $3 a ton. A second shipment was expected. Distribution of this corn extends as far east as Moose Jaw.

Giant Flying Boat Tested

Intended For Experimental Flights Across Pacific Next Year

A giant flying boat with a cruising range of 3,000 miles and intended ultimately for experimental flights across the Pacific Ocean is now being tested for air worthiness. It was launched at Bridgeport, Conn.

The ship, a Sikorsky, and similar to the "Brazilian Clipper" now operating on a South American route out of Miami, Fla., for Pan-American Airways, is known as Clipper No. Five.

Pan-American plans called for tests for Department of Commerce licensing, after which the ship was to make an over-water flight to Miami, out of sight of land.

There at the aircraft's main operating base it will continue training flights for the benefit of the intended operating personnel. Some time shortly after the first of the year, the ship will go to California for the first of the experimental flights across the Pacific by way of Hawaii and the Philippines.

The "Brazilian Clipper" has a capacity of 32 passengers, with additional room for 2,500 pounds of express freight. She carries 1,270 gallons of gasoline, and with a full load, has gone 1,250 miles during test flights.

Aid Found Successful

Removal Of Thyroid Gland Helps Sufferers From Heart Disease

Surgical relief of "heart disease," suggested by United States medical authorities, has been found successful in England.

Drs. O. Brenner and Hugh Donovan of Queens hospital, Birmingham, treated six sufferers of congestive heart-failure and angina pectoris by surgical removal of the thyroid gland in the neck, known as the "pacemaker of the body," because it is this gland which governs the speed at which the body processes work.

It has been known for years that certain diseases of the thyroid gland, the heart race, the lungs work more rapidly and other body functions are accelerated. American medical authorities suggested that if the "pacemaker thyroid" were removed, the body processes would adjust themselves to the pace of the weakest part of the body-machine, the flagging heart. This theory was followed by Drs. Brenner and Donovan and the results have so far been successful, they stated.

The six patients treated by the new surgical method now are capable of more exertion than has been possible previously, the doctors report.

TINY MALTA MOVES FOR PEACE

Scene in Valletta, Malta.

Ancient ruins of the island.

Malta, tiny Mediterranean outpost, which has a history tracing back to ancient times, is making the front pages again, this time in a great stride towards peace. The island's 220,000 inhabitants have been informed that Maltese again will be the official language of the island, replacing British and Italian in all the schools and law courts. This climaxes controversies between the British island officials and the Church with its Italian-favoring Nationalists. Three times since 1930 Great Britain has suspended the constitution of Malta, and the latest move to make Maltese the official language is taken as an effort on Britain's part to end all the internal strife.

Scout Had Wonderful Trip

Spent Summer in Northern Seas On Steamship Nascope

Thirteen thousand miles had been covered by Cockburn McCullum, Winnipeg King's scout, when he arrived in Winnipeg after having travelled with the steamship Nascope on its annual trip through northern waters to the Arctic posts of the Hudson's Bay Company and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

It was an adventurous and wonderful journey which has come the way of few youths, and the Winnipeg scout, who received it from the Hudson's Bay Company as the award given annually to Canada's outstanding scout, realized that when he arrived at the C.N.R. station and was greeted by his mother, Mrs. A. H. McCullum, his friends and officials of the Manitoba council of the boy scout association.

He left Winnipeg on June 29, going first to St. John's, Toronto and Ottawa and then to Montreal, from where the Nascope sailed July 7. In Ottawa he received the flag of the Boy Scout Association, which flew at the top of one of the steamer's masts during the whole journey.

As the steamer sailed northward he saw the barren, rocky coast of Labrador, Cartwright, Burwell, Lake Harbor, of Baffin Land, Wakeham Bay, Wolstenholme, Cape Smith, Port Harrison and Charlton Island were posted on the northern coast where the steamer called as she proceeded to Hudson Bay and James Bay.

His company on the ship was as interesting as the journey itself. There was Ashley Cooper, governor of the company, and his party, Dominion government, scientists, R.C.M.P. officers on their way to duty at northern outposts, and men who would work at Hudson's Bay Company trading posts.

Several times the steamer was locked in ice floes and fog, on one occasion for seven days, and three days at another time.

The most northerly point reached by the ship was Craig Harbor, on Ellesmere Island, were R.C.M.P. officers are stationed. En route to the island the ship stopped at North Devon Island to establish a new H.B.C. post at Dundas Harbor. Two company men were left at the way post with several Eskimo families and their dogs, taken up from Churchill.

The return was started from Ellesmere Island about the middle of September, after several snows, which would remain until next summer had fallen and led back to begin.

The Nascope arrived at Halifax on the evening of Sept. 30, and Cockburn visited several eastern cities before continuing west.

The long trip is now over, and his second year in pre-medicine at the University of Manitoba has begun. He is a member of the 44th Winnipeg troop, St. Margaret's church.

The Hero Of Trafalgar

Nelson Was Considered Weak Youth When He Started Career

The exhibition of old pictures illustrating Vice-Admiral Viscount Horatio Nelson's career, recently held at the Parker Gallery, is full of interest. When Nelson joined the ship of his uncle Maurice Suckling, the latter asked his father what the lad had done, that one so weak should be sent to rough it at sea.

That was in 1770. Twenty-seven years later, at Santa Cruz, the "weak youth" swarmed up a rope on board his ship, the Theseus, calling for the surgeon to amputate his shattered right arm. Sixty hours later, after an operation minus any kind of an anesthetic, Nelson was writing a despatch to Lord St. Vincent with his left hand. He assured the Duke of Clarence "not a scrap of that arduous work which I served our King has been shot away."

Off Cape Trafalgar, on the historic eve of our most glorious naval action, he said, "I'll show the fleet with a signal," and gave his signposts the immortal "England expects" epic. A few hours later came the trage. "They have got me at last, Hardy!"—London Letter.

Make Valuable Discovery

Carthage, Buried For Centuries, Has Been Brought To Light

A whole section of the ancient city of Carthage, buried for centuries beneath the sands of Northern Africa, has been brought to light, archaeological workers announced.

The excavations have revealed villas, paved streets, houses and buildings almost intact from the second and third centuries, and the discoveries are regarded by scholars as of great archaeological importance.

A part of the ancient city, hitherto unknown, which overlooked the Gulf of Tunis, has been uncovered, giving a vivid picture of daily life as it was long centuries ago.

The excavations are being continued, and a careful guard is being kept to prevent looting and vandalism.

Oldest Farm Workers

The combined ages of the three men who won the prizes offered by Williton and Dunster Agricultural Association, England, for the oldest farm workers still in active employment totalled 251 years. First prize went to John Chilton (85 years), second to John Reed (84), and third to Thomas Gould (83).

PAGEANTRY OF OLD ENGLAND AT ROYAL WEDDING

London.—Office girls used vanity mirrors and naves peeked through periscopes as all London sought to glimpse the wedding procession of Britain's Prince George and the lovely Marina.

All the pageantry of old England attended the wedding of the smiling princess of Greece and the tall, handsome Duke of Kent.

They were united according to ritual of the Church of England in Westminster Abbey and by rites of the Greek Orthodox Church at a subsequent service in the chapel of Buckingham Palace.

All the grandeur and tradition of the British Empire was typified in the rituals and pageants.

Their romance, which began in the mountains of Yugoslavia—on the estate of the late King Alexander, now assassinated—was consummated with their wedding at the towers in history-strewn Westminster Abbey before the most glittering assembly of Europe's high personages which have gathered here in more than a decade.

The Duke of Kent called his bride simply "Marina."

She said, "I, Marina, take thee George Edward Alexander Edmund, to be my wedded husband."

The word "obey" was used in the service and the archbishop pronounced them man and wife.

The king and queen, King Haakon and Queen Maud of Norway and King Christian and Queen Alexandra of Denmark, occupied the places of prominence among the royal guests nearest the brilliant white-decked altar with its flickering candles, costly golden plate and altar pieces. Not far away sat former King George of Greece.

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian high commissioner, and Mrs. Ferguson were present with a group of other distinguished personages from the Dominion.

The entire cabinet and many former cabinet members occupied other places.

Great crowds outside were able to follow the ceremony through loud speakers with practically every man standing bareheaded.

It also was broadcast throughout the world.

Want Freight Reduction

Ask Lower Rate on Grain To United States Border

Winnipeg.—Representatives of Canadian Railways were asked to consider a reduction in freight rates from prairie points to the United States border-line. The suggestion was advanced by a committee of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to enable farmers to market feed grains during the winter months.

The committee suggested the railways might consider a rate from western points that would compare favorably with the present Fort William rate. Navigation, it was pointed out, would soon close and farmers left dependent on an export rate that would not permit of their grain being sold.

At present heavy trucking of wheat and feed grain is in progress. This, it is suggested, would be completely halted with the first fall of heavy snow and export trade lost to Canadian farmers unless the railways place rates into effect making sales possible.

Willing To Help

Montreal.—Improvement in the pensions situation for war veterans enabled the Canadian Legion to consider questions with which it could not deal previously. Colonel W. W. Foster, Vancouver, acting president of the Legion, stated here. As a result of this improvement, he said, the Legion has now offered the services of its members to the Dominion government to help if possible in relieving the unemployment crisis.

Excluded For December

Paris.—Canadian salmon exporters will be excluded from the French market completely during December. The 1933 accord expires Dec. 1, and the new accord, reached last September, does not become effective until Jan. 1.

Poultry For England

Hull/Ax.—Part of John Bull's Christmas dinner at least is assured by shipment from this port during the first week of December of 1,000,000 pounds of choice poultry valued at $200,000.

Big Business Rules

Manipulators Exert Influence To Support Government Control, Says Stevens

Toronto.—"The manipulators of big business are the real government of Canada," declared Hon. H. H. Stevens before the University of Toronto students at Hart House.

The former minister of trade and commerce was guest speaker at the university debate on the resolution "That in the opinion of this house big business is a curse when directed solely by the profit motive."

"Now don't get me wrong," he continued. "I do not say, nor would I admit, that the leaders of big business personally interfere with the operation of the government, but the very nature of the laws of the country and the character of this big business, as defined in the resolution, exerts an economic influence which supplants government control."

Mr. Stevens was the last speaker for the affirmative and at the conclusion of his address the house voted 307 to 10 in favor of the resolution.

Mr. Stevens said he turned to the financial page of his newspaper and read there the statement of a large and powerful bank. The statement showed deposits by the people of $20,000,000, government and other bonds and debentures, $317,000,000 and commercial loans, $243,000,000.

"Now far be it from me to criticize any bank whose power and strength is denoted by such figures," said Mr. Stevens, "but it is my contention that banks are not meant to be a safety deposit place for government bonds. They are the custodians of the money of the people to be loaned out for development of industry and business. Loans to business men of Canada are about one-half of what they should be."

"And here is a fact of which I am ashamed, and I am sure you will be too. In the Montreal, Toronto and Windsor districts there are 100,000 workers living under conditions that would be a disgrace to mid-continental areas, leave alone Canada."

The great crime of the age, said Mr. Stevens, was the refusal of big business men to accept responsibility for those working under them. "I may be accused of being sentimental," he said, "but we can afford some sentimentality, for there is dog gone little of it in big business."

Referring to the tremendous executive salaries paid by one firm, he said: "If the firm had paid one-third of the salaries to their executives which would have been quite sufficient to get along on, it would have meant a saving of $1,000,000 a year, and would have given every one of their 5,000 employees living below a decent standard an additional $200 a year. But those executives were paid for their capacity to go out and buy better than someone else, or to get more out of their workers for less."

Wheat Quota For France

This Means That Argentina And Canada Must Take Less

Budapest.—Representatives of six wheat exporting countries meeting here decided to grant France an export quota for 1934-35, provided their respective governments approve.

The decision came after three hours of discussion, following the adjournment of the full wheat conference.

Draft of the agreement, which United States delegates described as "very complicated," was sent to the seven governments, including France, for approval. Meanwhile delegates refused to reveal the size of the quota offered France.

This was the first time an export quota had been offered France and it meant that other exporters, particularly Argentina and Canada which between them expected to get two-thirds of the total quota of 600,000 bushels, must take less.

It was believed the net figure proposed for France was between 15,000,000 and 20,000,000 bushels.

Japan's Wheat Crop Up

Tokyo.—Japan's 1934 wheat crop shows a substantial increase compared with 1933 according to an estimate of cereal crops made by the ministry of agriculture and forestry. The wheat yield this year is estimated by the ministry at 9,451,000 koku (47,255,000 bushels), an increase of 27,390,000 bushels over the preceding year's harvest.

Money For Aviators

Johannesburg.—Union of South Africa.—Charles W. Scott and T. Campbell Black, London, to Melbourne air derby winners, will take $15,000 (about $75,000) from advertising fees and sales rights of a $250,000 which financed the flight, announced here.

CHOICE OF WEST FOR DIRECTOR OF CENTRAL BANK

Saskatoon.—R. A. Wright, prominent farmer and cattle breeder of Drinkwater, Saskatchewan, received the unanimous support of western boards of trade as their nominee as director of the Bank of Canada representing the three prairie provinces. His name was forwarded to the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, and will be included, it is expected, in the list of officers for which the chamber will solicit the support of the shareholders.

Several other persons were under consideration at the meeting, but were unsupported on the grounds that their chief occupation was not that of primary production as set out in the act and recommended to the western boards by the chamber of commerce. Mr. Wright is actively engaged in farming and livestock raising.

Representatives at the meeting here were: W. McCurdy, president of the Winnipeg Board of Trade and business manager of the Winnipeg Tribune, and E. G. Gilliat, secretary; J. H. Hanna, commissioner of the Calgary Board of Trade; L. A. Thornton, representing Regina Board of Trade, and A. J. Trotter and J. D. Gunn representing Saskatoon. J. W. Glenwright, of Edmonton, was unable to be present, but the Edmonton Board of Trade telephoned conference in the selection of Mr. Wright.

Mr. Wright's name was placed before the meeting by the representative from Regina. In supporting his selection, it was pointed out that he was vice-president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce for Saskatchewan, and a director of the Saskatchewan livestock board. He has had a long experience in prairie farming and now operates a large farm in the southern part of the province. Mr. Wright is president of the Western Canadian Livestock Union. Several years ago he took a prominent part in organizing opposition to a suggested compulsory livestock pool.

Action to agree upon a single nominee was begun by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce about 10 days ago and was taken to make certain that the prairie provinces would get representation on the board of directors. Extensive stock holdings in central Canada suggested the possibility that no westerner would be selected by the shareholders.

Money Not Available

Government Cannot Authorize Outlay For Radio Station

Ottawa.—Owing to lack of funds, the government has turned down the recommendation of the radio commission that a high power broadcasting unit be constructed in central Saskatchewan to serve the middle section of the prairie provinces.

The proposed station would have cost about $250,000 and there is no money available to meet it. For this reason the government has declined to authorize the outlay this year and will reconsider the position next spring when the new fiscal year begins.

Win In Debate

Edmonton.—University of Alberta debaters here defeated the touring British team of Leslie Jackson and Robertson Crichton by upholding successfully the resolution that "Liberalism, though it yet speaks, is dead." The Alberta victors were Ralph Collins and William Epstein.

NEW DOMINION CABINET MINISTERS

Richard B. Hanson, K.C., M.P. (left), whose appointment as Minister of Trade and Commerce in succession to Hon. H. H. Stevens is understood to have been decided upon at Ottawa. Groote Stirling (right), M.P. for Yale, B.C., is reported to be the choice for Canada's new Minister of National Defence, succeeding Hon. Donald Sutherland, who will, it is said, assume the portfolio of Pensions and National Health, laid down by Hon. Murray McLaren. The latter is understood to be withdrawing from the cabinet. Mr. Stirling will, it is said, also be Acting Minister of Fisheries.

NO COMPROMISE

While conceding Great Britain the right to possess the largest navy in the world because of her far-flung Dominions and Colonies, Tameo Maradaira, above, declared Japan would not be satisfied with anything less than full naval equality with the United States.

Canada's New Bank Bills

Details Were Made Public By Finance Minister

Ottawa.—Members of the royal family and two famous Canadian prime ministers are portrayed on the new paper currency to be issued by the Bank of Canada. Details of the new money were made public through Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes. The denominations so far contracted for are 1¢, 2¢, 5¢, 10¢, 20¢, 50¢, 100¢, $5 and $100's.

Sir John A. Macdonald, Confederation prime minister, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the great Liberal, who was prime minister from 1896 to 1911, are the two Canadians whose likenesses will be perpetuated in the new money. Sir John A. Macdonald's likeness will be engraved on the $500 bills and that of Sir Wilfrid on the $1,000 notes, the reverse side bearing allegorical engravings representing the agriculture and "protection" respectively.

The new bills will be six inches long by 2½ inches wide, fractionally shorter and wider than the United States bills and much smaller than the existing Canadian money.

"The 1's will be green, 2's blue, 5's orange and 10's purple. Colors for the other denominations have not been definitely decided."

Livestock Marketing Plan To Be Discussed With Prairie Provinces

Winnipeg.—Efforts to formulate a livestock marketing plan for the three prairie provinces was shunted onto the shoulders of a sub-committee instructed to negotiate with Alberta and Saskatchewan breeders.

Winding up a two-day discussion, representatives of Manitoba farm organizations named a sub-committee of five to seek discussions with Saskatchewan and Alberta organizations as early as possible.

Bread Cards Abolished

Moscow.—Bread cards will be abolished in Soviet Russia on January 1 and bread flour will be sold generally in open shops. It was announced at a meeting of the central committee of the Communist party. The committee announced this will necessarily increase bread prices, but gave instructions that wages, workers' pensions and money given to students will be increased to meet the advance.

U.S. Team Wins

Decisive Victory Obtained In Jumping Event At Winter Fair

Toronto.—Consistent riding by United States army team gave them a decisive victory in the international officers' team challenge trophy, outstanding event at the Royal Winter Fair horse show. The trophy, presented by Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian high commissioner at London, is open to all nations for teams of three jumpers.

The Irish Free State army team, last year's winner, put up a strenuous defence but 10 faults made by the first rider lost their chance of victory.

The United States, which won it in 1932, had only nine faults scored against it, three by each rider.

The Chilean outfit with 15 faults, were shunted into third place. Twenty-one faults sent the French squad into fourth place ahead of the Canadian team which scored 28 faults.

URGES GERMANY TO ABANDON ISOLATION POLICY

London.—Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, wound up a "council of state" debate on home defences in the House of Commons by announcing the full contents of Stanley Baldwin's speech, urging Germany to abandon her policy of secrecy and isolation, had been delivered to Germany, France, Italy and the United States with a full explanation by the foreign office.

Sir John's announcement climaxed an all-day debate on imperial defence. The house rejected an amendment in reply to the throne speech from Winston Churchill, declaring Britain's defences were entirely inadequate, and approved the government's statement.

The foreign secretary emphasized there was no difference of opinion in Britain on the question of defence. There were no advocates of unilateral disarmament.

He said Mr. Baldwin's plea that Germany ease the condition of nervous apprehension in Europe by tearing away the veil of secrecy helped clear away a great deal of suspicion. That speech had been delivered to world powers, he said, "because this is not an Anglo-German proposition but an European and world proposition."

"We have thus helped to clear away a great deal of suspicion. The communications to other governments constituted a new development and might create a new situation if we can get international agreement."

"We should like an agreement on disarmament at the lowest possible level. If we cannot get an attainable ideal we must seek an agreement at the lowest level possible. We stand for regulated limitation as opposed to competition and unregulated armament."

Germany's factories are working under "practically war-time conditions," Mr. Churchill asserted. He declared the great new fact which riveted attention of every country in Europe and in the world, is that "Germany is re-arming on land, to some extent at sea, and which concerns Britain most, in the air."

Stressing the need of strengthening the air force particularly, Mr. Churchill said almost every part of the United Kingdom was within range of air attacks from the continent.

"It is useless to move arsenals and factories to the west coast," he said. "We must face the peril where we stand."

Pending some radical new discovery, he declared, the only practical measure of defence was the ability to inflict as much damage to the enemy as he could inflict on Britain.

He advocated the maintenance regardless of cost, for the next 10 years of an air force substantially stronger than that of Germany.

"The Germans are mostly friendly," he added. "There is no reason to think they will attack us. But under the Nazi regime the decision of only a handful of men is required to launch an attack without notice."

Stanley Baldwin, lord president of the council, said that even while things looked "so black" he had not abandoned hope of arms restriction.

"There has grown a condition of nervous apprehension which bodes ill for peace," Mr. Baldwin admitted. He suggested the Germans ask themselves whether the price Germany was paying in the mental condition of Europe was worth her secrecy and her breaking the Geneva link with her sister nations."

PROP IS NEEDED TO STABILIZE WHEAT PRICES

Calgary.—Government influence in the wheat markets is essential, L. C. Brouillette, president of the Saskatchewan wheat pool, told delegates attending the Alberta wheat pool annual meeting here.

"If the government goes out of the market, many farmers will go out of business," declared Mr. Brouillette. Referring to Prime Minister R. B. Bennett's statement that federal stabilization operations had meant $25,000,000 to grain growers, the pool president thought the figure mentioned was very conservative.

The co-operation of federal and provincial governments and the primary producer he saw as the means to place agriculture on a secure basis. Whatever marketing system might be used, he said, must take the long view and fit in with world demand.

The cooperative deal with the organization of pools and co-operatives, he believed there was every confidence in the work of the co-operative associations to-day throughout the prairie provinces.

Ontario Prisoner Shot

Is Killed In Attempt To Escape From Ontario Reformatory

Toronto.—Fred Ertal, 28, was shot to death when he attempted to escape from the brick and tile plant of the Ontario reformatory, Etobicoke township.

With three companions, Ertal attempted to flee but the four men were met in the reception room of the institution and were overpowered after a 15-minute battle. During the fight, Sgt. Campbell and Geo. Jamieson, guards, were seriously injured, suffering from head wounds.

Sgt. Moran, another reformatory official, came to the help of the guards and Ertal was shot when a revolver was brought into play. Sgt. Moran was unhurt.

The attempted break occurred about 8:30 o'clock at night and at midnight C. F. Neeland, deputy provincial secretary, arrived at the institution and started an inquiry. The reception room was wrecked during the struggle and on the floor was the body of Ertal with blood spreading over the flooring from a wound in his chest.

Former German Colony

New Elects To Joins The Union Of South Africa

Windhoek, Africa.—Legislature of Southwest Africa, former German colony now administered by the Union of South Africa, adopted by a 2 to 1 vote a motion requesting the territory should be administered as a fifth province of the Union of South Africa.

This would be subject of course to the provisions of the league mandate. The requisite two-thirds majority in favor of such a course having been secured in the general elections last month—after the government disbanded the growing German Nazi party here—the appearance remains no further obstacles to joining the Union. The motion also urged the territory should be represented in both houses of the union parliament.

Bank Of Canada

Montreal Stockholders Suggest Nominees For Board

Montreal.—Montreal stockholders of the Bank of Canada suggested nominees to the board of the Bank of Canada as follows: Sir Newton Moore, president of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation; Victor M. Drury, president of the E. B. Eddy Company, Limited; Robert J. Major, president of the Montreal Board of Trade and president of the National Steel Corporation; W. C. Finley, director of the Montreal Tramways Company, and Lt.-Col. F. R. Phelan, president Financial Service, Limited.

The local group of stockholders who agreed on the nominations met at the board table at the suggestion of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR
URGES ASSISTANCE IN STRENGTHENING LAW

Recently, two hundred delegates to the annual meeting of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts had the pleasure of being addressed by Lieut.-Governor W. L. Walsh, in which he urged them as individuals to assist in strengthening the grip of law and order in Alberta. He asked the convention delegates, as men of influence in the districts they represented, to set an example to aid in undermining the effects of discontent introduced by professional agitators.

"There are," he declared, "ample laws for the preservation of every right, redress for every wrong."

Lieut.-Gov. Walsh referred to the splendid response made by Canadian citizens to assist those in need. "A majority of those unemployed appreciate the effort," he said. "The majority would willingly work were available."

"In every community, however, are men whose only aim in life seems to be to agitate and create discontent. These men are busy trying to create disturbance and unrest in the minds of the people. They are responsible for bitterness and unpleasant feeling that may take years to die down."

Referring to the northern farmers' strike, he said that it was the privilege of every British citizen to strike if he wished, also to attempt to have his neighbors join. But when strikers by force—he described it as "brute force"—attempted to halt grain deliveries they are breaking the law.

The grain strike was set out as the work of agitators "who seek to do away with all law and order and substitute something entirely opposed to our own laws."

HOWSON SIDETRACKS SOCIAL
CREDIT WITH FINESSE

Questioned regarding the Liberal party's attitude toward Social Credit in Alberta, the Liberal leader made a very clear pronouncement upon that question and the manner in which his party intended to deal with Social Credit. "We will request Social Credit leaders in the province to prepare a plan and select three of their number to represent the various shades of Social Credit thought in the presentation of a proposed plan. We will be prepared to pay these three representatives for their services and will be pleased to receive a plan acceptable to the various Social Credit organizations. If a plan which is workable and which is considered in the interests of the people of Alberta can be presented, the Liberal party will sincerely attempt to put such a plan into effect."—Hanna Herold.

ROYAL BANK HEADS CHANGE

Montreal—After 26 years in office, Sir Herbert S. Holt has relinquished the presidency of The Royal Bank of Canada and now becomes Chairman of the Board and Chairman of the Executive Committee. He is succeeded by Morris W. Wilson as president and managing director, and Sydney G. Dobson follows Mr. Wilson as general manager.

These changes were announced at the end of the Bank's fiscal year today, following a regular meeting of the board. They are changes which constitute not only an important milestone in the 65 years of Royal Bank history, but also an event of national significance. Sir Herbert Holt's retirement from the presidency marks the withdrawal from active duty of an outstanding Canadian, under whose leadership the Royal Bank has developed from a relatively small organization to its present status as one of the great financial institutions of the world. Furthermore, the appointment of Morris W. Wilson as president marks the first occasion this office has been attained by a man from within the ranks of the bank.

M. W. WILSON
President and Managing Director of The Royal Bank of Canada.

In assuming the newly created position of chairman of the board, Sir Herbert Holt will continue a connection with the Royal Bank which began nearly thirty years ago with his election as a director in February, 1905. He was appointed vice-president of the bank two years later, and became its president on November 16, 1908.

The Royal Bank has been in existence for sixty-five years. It was incorporated in Halifax in 1869 as The Merchants Bank of Halifax, its present name being adopted in 1901 and its head office removed from Halifax to Montreal in 1907, the year in which Sir Herbert became vice-president.

When he was appointed president in the following year, the Royal Bank was recognized as being soundly established upon long adherence to the conservative principles of its inception. It was not, however, outstanding in the extent of its activities, and it was under Sir Herbert's direction that the bank entered a new period of steady growth which gradually made it one of the leading banks of the world, international in scope and influence. In 1908, when Sir Herbert became president, the Royal Bank had 107 branch offices; today it has nearly 800 branches, serving all parts of Canada and located in twenty foreign countries. Its assets during the same period have increased from less than $50,000,000 to more than $725,000,000, and the number of its shareholders from 800 to a present total of 12,000.

Sir Herbert's policy has been one of steady and constant enterprise, consistent with sound banking practices, and this has included an insistence upon development of an active and highly trained personnel. He has always emphasized the importance of providing opportunity for new ability, and the Royal Bank has become notable for the development of young men such as C. S. Tompkins, inspector general of banks, a position created by the Federal Government in 1924, and Graham P. Towers, the recently appointed governor of the new Central Bank.

It is understood that Sir Herbert's retirement from the presidency now, at the age of seventy-eight, is due partly to his desire to have more leisure for periods abroad, but principally to his policy of gradually transferring his direct responsibilities to younger shoulders.

Morris W. Wilson, the new president and managing director of the Royal Bank, was formerly vice-president and general manager. He is fifty-one years old, the age at which Sir Herbert became president. He was born in Juncosburg, Nova Scotia, where he entered the service of the bank. His entire business career has been with the bank, and the thirty-seven years since he began have been marked by a series of promotions through which he has acquired experience in every phase of banking activity.

In 1909, when he was twenty-six, Mr. Wilson was moved from the Maritimes to Vancouver, where he became manager of the main office two years later. In 1916 he was transferred to Head Office in Montreal as chief inspector. The following year he became superintendent of branches, and in 1922 was appointed senior assistant general manager. He was promoted to general manager of the bank in July 1929, and in 1933 became vice-president as well. Each of his predecessors as president has been, like Sir Herbert Holt, a figure of prominence in industry or commerce. He is thus the first professional banker to become president of the bank.

Sydney G. Dobson, who has been senior assistant general manager and who now succeeds Mr. Wilson as general manager, has had a similar career. Like Mr. Wilson he was born in the Maritimes, at Sydney, Cape Breton, and is fifty-one years old. He started with the bank as a junior clerk in his home town thirty-four years ago, becoming accountant at Winnipeg in 1906. After serving in various other positions, he was appointed manager of Sydney branch in 1910 at the age of 27. Five years later he became assistant manager in Montreal, and in 1916 he was transferred to Vancouver to succeed Mr. Wilson as manager. In 1918 he became acting supervisor of middle west branches, with headquarters at Winnipeg, and in 1919 was promoted to general inspector at Head Office. He became assistant general manager three years later, and has occupied this position for the last twelve years.

General Manager of Royal Bank of

At the end of the third week of November, the output of apples from the Annapolis Valley was 2,700 carloads, compared with 3,600 last year. Fewer apples have been exported, but the shipments to Ontario and Quebec has about doubled.

"...So that Our Visitors will be Sorry to Leave"

"If we are going to invite people to this country, we must be honest with them... Courtesy costs nothing and is one of our greatest tourist assets... Let us so treat strangers within our gates that it will be easy for them to come, pleasant for them to stay, and difficult for them to leave."

Rt. Hon. R. B. BENNETT, Prime Minister of Canada, in the Canadian Association of Tourist and Publicity Bureau, November 4, 1934.

Canada's tourist activities represent more than a great industry from which everybody benefits. They provide an opportunity to create what the Prime Minister has described as "that feeling of neighbourliness" which is such a vital factor in building up cordial relations within the family of nations.

For both these reasons, may I urge upon the people of Canada the importance of showing consideration, courtesy and honesty to guests of our country? Let us all do those little acts of kindness which count for so much when one travels in a strange land.

We have a beautiful country. We must keep it so. We want our visitors to travel highways free from disfigurement, walk the streets of cities that are orderly and clean, and find at the end of every day's travel an inviting spot to rest. Canadians should turn their attention now to the important work of preparing for next year's tourist season.

As a nation, we are advertising abroad the attractions of Canada as a holiday land. We must see to it that our guests return home with only the happiest recollections—and the determination to come back again and again.

Nor should we forget, in planning our own vacations, that there are beauties to discover and friendships to be made in our neighbouring provinces. We live in one of the world's most glorious playgrounds—let us learn to know better the rich variety of its travel attractions.

ROADLEY SAYS HURDEN OF SOCIAL CREDIT WOULD FALL ON PRIMARY PRODUCER

Addressing the U.F.A. provincial constituency convention in Macleod, Hon. George Roadley, minister of health and telephones, warned the people against embracing Social Credit and many other theories now being proposed to bring about a change for the better. He said that the burden of Social Credit would fall upon the primary producer. He rather favored Technocracy as advocated by J. McCrae Newman.

QUEBEC RECOGNIZES WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS

The government of Quebec province has decided that it is going to pay for some of the services hitherto given free by the weekly newspapers. It believes that these weeklies are giving a genuine service to the province that has been overlooked in the past.

Other provincial governments might well follow suit. The weekly newspapers deserve remuneration for services rendered. They are not looking for bonuses or gratuities, but they do believe that the value given in the way of valuable publicity should be more substantially recognized.—Ex.

SWEARS TO TRUTH BEFORE NOTARY

Suffering from severe abdominal pains and biliousness, Mrs. Elizabeth Hudson, 525 Simcoe St., London, Ont., at last got permanent relief. To help others she tells of her experience in a statement made under oath before a notary in order to convince you of its absolute truth. She states,—"I had a bad case of biliousness and headaches and became so ill I had to go to a hospital. Nothing I tried would help until I started taking Fruit-a-tives. Now I have no more headaches and can do my housework without help from anyone. Fruit-a-tives did me a world of good."

SALE OF NEGRO RECALLED

An interesting document was unearthed at Windsor, N.S., the other day. It was an original bill of sale of a negro, one Minter, the price being 100 pounds. It is dated 24th of August, 1799. The document is in the possession of a direct descendant of the man to whom the negro was sold. The bill of sale, according to the tourist department of the Canadian National Railways, goes on to recite that the seller, Joseph C. Northrup, "do bargain and sell unto the said John Palmer, of Windsor, a negro named Minter, and now remaining and being in the said Joseph C. Northrup, to have and to hold all and singular the said Negro man." There are similar records in Sydney and Truro in the same province. Some of the old buildings still remain and are an interesting sight for the many United States tourists who visit this section of Nova Scotia. The town has in its possession an old hand-operated fire pumping engine given to the town by George III, in 1787.

George P. Smith, former minister of education in Alberta, and later of Hamilton, Ontario, has received the Liberal nomination for the Camrose constituency, contesting Mr. Lucas, M.P.

Two rival editors fought bitterly for years. One died and the other sought to make amends in the obituary. But unfortunately the item became mixed up with the report of a fire and it read: "When the beautiful casket was lowered to the last resting place, lurid flames shot upward."—Coleman Journal.

BELLEVUE HAPPENINGS

The weekly Social Credit meeting was held on Thursday evening in the L.O.O.F. hall. The first part of the evening took the form of a concert after which a very interesting address was given by Rev. R. Taylor, of Coleman, following which the remainder of the evening was given over to dancing, which was much enjoyed.

Fire of unknown origin destroyed the home of George Osar on Friday evening. It is understood that the house and contents were insured.

The local Caledonian Society held a concert and dance in the L.O.O.F. hall on Friday evening, when a good time was reported.

The home of Mrs. G. K. Sirett was the scene of a nicely arranged tea and sale of candy, etc., on Saturday, given by the Ranger Patrol of the Bellevue Girl Guides. The girls wish to thank all those who in any way assisted them in making the affair such a success.

Mrs. J. J. McIntyre and Mrs. J. Hillary were Lethbridge visitors on Saturday.

Mrs. H. Harrison entertained a number of ladies at her home on Monday evening.

John Carney, of Kimberley, is in town, owing to the serious illness of his mother.

A shower was held at the home of Mrs. A. Boutry on Tuesday evening, honoring a recent bride, Mrs. J. Hunter (nee Gladys Blake). The first part of the evening was spent at cards and other games, after which luncheon was served and the bride was presented with many beautiful and useful gifts. The party broke up about midnight.

Rev. J. Wood, of Hillcrest, conducted the St. Andrew's service here on Sunday evening.

RHODES SCHOLARSHIP

Donald Wilson, son of Dr. W. A. Wilson and Mrs. Wilson, of Edmonton, has been selected University of Alberta Rhodes scholar for 1934-35. A fourth year student in medicine.

Mr. Wilson has been prominent in athletic and executive circles on the campus since entering the University in 1931. He is currently president of the University of Alberta Men's Athletic Association, and has been active service on football and swimming teams.

The new Rhodes scholar is the first U. of A. medical man to receive the award.

Winning of the Oxford bursar this year is of particular significance, due to the large number of excellently qualified applicants.

Elizabeth Carscallen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Carscallen, of Sylvan Lake, Alberta, has been awarded the L.O.E. scholarship, which will enable her to spend a year in study in England. Miss Carscallen graduated from the U. of A. in Arts in 1932.

CASTOR ISSUES LOCAL MONEY

"Good to the value of one dollar and negotiable at all places of business in town" read the pink slips of paper, bearing the official town's seal, that are accepted by the merchants at Castor. The main idea behind the scheme is to promote the campaign to "buy your goods in your home town."

Considerable work is being done the last two weeks as a relief measure. Payment is made with "Castor money," and is again turned in at certain intervals by the merchants and changed for regular bank cheques at the office of the town clerk.

A pessimist is a man who reaches three-score years and ten and thinks he might just as well have died young.

The anniversary of Bob Edwards, Alberta's martyr in just another way, was recently celebrated by pioneers in Calgary. Even the provincial librarian and other prominent citizens of Alberta had good things to say (nothing but good), which could not be said of the so-called martyr of the present day that's sponsored by Russia.

Cash income of United States farmers during October from all sources was reported by the bureau of agricultural economics to have totaled $736,000,000, compared with $620,000,000 in October, 1933.

D. Leo Doland, director of the Canadian travel bureau, is on a tour of western cities to get viewpoints on advertising Canadian attractions for tourists. Economic difficulties were not interfering with tourist traffic, he said.

Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald announced in the House of Commons that Great Britain will not propose to the United States negotiations for a pact of mutual assistance in the Pacific along the lines of the Locarno treaty.

The judicial committee of the privy council reserved judgment on the appeal of the province of Manitoba from a decision of the Canadian supreme court, in a dispute with the Dominion government over timber dues.

The Earl of Bessborough, Canada's governor-general, already known as an accomplished actor, revealed himself as a horticulturist of note, winning the gold medal for the "best variety of chrysanthemum shown at the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto.

A wedding gift from the navies of the empire to the Duke of Kent and Princess Marina was exhibited at the admiralty in London. It consists of a rare antique silver tea-service fitted into an oak chest on which is inscribed the names of the Royal navy and of the Dominion and Indian navies.

Russian Crown Exhibited

Was Sold By Soviet Government To Private Collector

A crown worn at their marriage by the last three Russian czars was exhibited at the fine arts exposition at Rockefeller center, in New York. The crown, which is a part of Czar Nicholas's private collection, is the most important piece of Russian crown jewelry known to have been disposed of by the Soviet government since its accession to power.

It is made of scarlet velvet ribbons, stiffened and shaped into a circle with three rows of diamonds. The ribbons are two rows of large diamonds and three of smaller stones, and a cross which tops the crown contains five huge brilliants. There are 320 of the big stones in all and 1,200 of the small, and the total weight of diamonds on the crown is about 260 carats.

The crown was made about 1840, during the reign of Nicholas I, for the marriage of the future Czarina Marie Alexandrovna to the Czar Nicholas I. The crown was worn by the future Czarina Marie Alexandrovna, wife of Alexander III, and the ill-fated Alexandra Feodorovna, wife of Nicholas II, the last autocrat of Russia.

Chances are Catherine the Great wore the diamonds in their present settings, and that they were later simply sewn on to the crown shape. The diamonds are extraordinarily clear and brilliant stones, of South American or Indian origin.

May Not Throw Flowers

Unwritten Rule Governs This Custom At Royal Weddings

Princess Marina's wedding brought profit to many people, comments the Glasgow Herald. The system which worked so well for onlookers during the wedding of the Duke and Duchess of York was repeated, and the route followed by the three processions in connection with the ceremony were carefully studied. Nearly everyone who possesses a window that might give a royal view made full use of it and the commercially minded scaled appropriate charges to visitors. It is not generally known that there are unwritten rules against throwing flowers—a custom which persisted until the middle of last century. It was found that crushed petals made the roads unsafe for the horses in the procession and the practice was discouraged for this reason.

New Idea On Liner

Kennel Attendant Takes Care Of Dogs During Trip.
Ocean liners are getting very "doggy."

The ship's butcher, traditional keeper of passengers' dogs, was relieved of his duties when the Washington sailed for Hamburg. A new rating, that of kennel attendant, was given to a member of the crew. The Washington's passengers no longer can question the identity of their steaks or profess to mourn the sad fate of Spot as they look on their chops.

The number of passengers traveling to Europe accompanied by their dogs has increased to such an extent that new kennel accommodations had to be built and a special attendant became necessary.

Great Display Of Apples

Detroit Fruit Company Paid Over Thousand Dollars For Shipment

"The world's largest box of apples," a specially built mammoth replica of a standard apple box, was displayed by the Wabash railway on its Canal street train track in Chicago.

The box mounted on a 40 foot flat car, contained 750 bushels of grade 100 "extra fancy" winesaps from Yakima, Wash., weighing a total of 34,252 pounds, and consigned to the Detroit Fruit Auction company of Detroit. The company is said to have paid $1,000 for the shipment. On either end was a huge replica of a shipping cart carrying masses of contributing apple growers.

Little Journeys In Science

ATMOSPHERE

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

Around the earth are eleven and a half trillion of pounds of air, or atmosphere, pressing a pressure of about fourteen tons on each person. Because this pressure is distributed evenly on all parts of the body, it does not cause inconvenience. At sea level, the air exerts a pressure of a little more than fourteen pounds per square inch, but the pressure is less on higher levels because the air above presses on that below, making the pressure greatest near the earth.

Torricelli, an Italian scientist, and pupil of Galileo, was the first to discover that air had weight. This is done by filling a bottle with air, weighing it, then removing the air by means of a vacuum pump, and weighing again. The bottle will be found to be lighter when weighed the second time.

It is necessary to both plant and animal life, and it is also vital to the process of burning. It is composed of one-fifth oxygen and four-fifths nitrogen. In addition it contains 5 or 6 parts in 10,000 of carbon dioxide. There is also a variable amount of water vapor, small amounts of sulphuric acid gas and hydrogen, together with many minute particles of organic and inorganic matter. After an electrical storm, nitric acid is also found.

Humans and animals breathe in the oxygen from the air, and give off carbon dioxide. Plants in sunlight breathe in carbon dioxide, and give off oxygen. Man depends on oxygen for life, and so the importance of ventilation cannot be over-estimated. The oxygen in the air is used up, giving place to carbon dioxide, which is in-tervenous when breathed in large quantities.

In addition to life and combustion, other phenomena, which depend on the air are: The propagation of sound, the distintegration of plant and animal life, and the weather, and terrestrial radiation and weather.

True Of Many People

We think so because all other people think so;

Or because we were told so, and we think we must think so;

Or because we once thought so, and we think we still think so;

Or because, having no other way of thought, we think we will think so.

—Henry Sidgwick.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

THE CHRISTIAN AND HIS TEACHERS

Golden text: "Give diligence to present yourselves approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, handling of the word of truth." Timothy 2:15.

Lesson: Matthew 7:24-29; Acts 18:24-29.

Devotional Reading: 2 Timothy 3:14-17.

Explanations And Comments

Teachers and Disciples, Mt. 27. The parable of the Two Foundations ends the Sermon on the Mount, as given by Matthew.

Many think that their lives are rock-founded because they have a nebulous admiration for the moral teachings of Jesus (Henry P. Cove).

The Master Teacher, Mt. 28:29. The multitudes were astonished at Jesus' teaching, because he taught them as One having himself authority, with direct knowledge of the truth, and did not quote the authorities of the Law, and of the prophets, of what had been said before him by some one else, as did the scribes. The scribes were the professors of Judaism and teachers of the Law. Theirs was the task of multiplying copies of the Law, and of expounding it.

Learning to Teach Better, Acts 18:24-28. There came to Ephesus about twenty years after the death of Christ a Jew named Apollos, an Alexandrian Jew, who had a great command of languages, could speak fluently and well, and was thoroughly conversant with the Old Testament scriptures, in the knowledge of which like all Jews, he had been brought up. He had received some instruction in the way of the Lord, knew something of the Christian life, and the knowledge of Jesus had been gained from the disciples of John the Baptist, and was accurate as far as it went, but it did not go far enough, as Priscilla and Aquila perceived when they heard him.

It was with Priscilla and Aquila that Paul had made his home while in Corinth (Acts 18:1-3), and when Paul was about to leave Corinth, these two went with him (18:18). When they came to Ephesus, Priscilla and Aquila remained there while Paul went on to Syria.

Priscilla and Aquila saw how useful Apollos was in the work, he was better instructed, and they took him in hand and taught him more accurately the way of God. He had come to Ephesus seeking opportunity for doing good, and he not only found the opportunity but unexpectedly received great good himself.

Achala to teach, and in this he was encouraged by "the brethren" who wrote to the disciples there to receive him. These Apollos helped much through grace then that had believed, as the marginal rendering of the Bible translates. He was able to confute the Jews at Corinth and show by the Scriptures that Jesus is the Christ. Paul spent the winter of 18:18 watering where he had planted (1 Cor. 3:6), and some of the people became so attached to Apollos and his teaching that they called themselves his, rather than Paul's, disciples (1 Cor. 3:4).

HER ARMS AND LEGS IMMOVABLE

Ten Years With Rheumatism

To this woman it must have been like commencing to live a new life, when she began to use her arms and legs again, after they had been helpless for ten years.

"I suffered with rheumatism," she writes, "and had been bedridden since 1920. I could not move arms or legs, and had to be fed like a child. Everybody thought I should be an invalid all my life. I forced myself to fight against it, and tried a number of different things. It was Kruschen that eventually saved me, and to-day I consider it is saving my life. My condition has greatly improved, and my limbs are gradually becoming more supple. Already I can sit without assistance, and I can do things which I had not done for ten years."

M. H.

Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts are the most effective solvents of uric acid known to medical science. They swiftly dull the sharp edges of the painful crystals, then convert them into a harmless solution. Other ingredients of these Salts have a stimulating effect upon the kidneys, and assist them to expel the dissolved uric acids through the natural channels.

THE TENDERFOOT

SYNOPSIS

"You've fallen here to a half-share in plenty of trouble," the lawler told Gerald Keene. "The Broken Spur ranch has been systematically looting the ranch, and old Joe Carr, your partner, is drinking himself into ruin."

But Keene decided to go see what was happening. He hired a cowboy named Gerald Keene, half owner of the Hour-Glass Ranch, but as Duro Stone, tenderfoot at a Montgomery Ward wildcat outfit.

Dad Kane, desert rat and quickie prospector till now is returning to tell Dustin and Spike Goddard, owners of the Broken Spur ranch, who had grubstaked him, of his discovery of a rich gold mine and show some of the ore. He sees Broken Spur men rustling Hour-Glass cattle and protests against it.

Spike Goddard and Sam Dustin, fearing the old prospector may tell others the things he has seen, set to the branding of Carr's cattle, plot to get him to show them the location of the mine and then to kill him.

Gerald Keene, dressed in ridiculous cowboy costume, arrived at the Hour-Glass ranch and was hired as a cowboy by Joe Carr. The impersonation of a tenderfoot is successful, and he is accepted as such by the other occupants of the bunkhouse.

Proof of Dustin's cattle stealing activities was accidentally discovered by Stone, who had happened to see Carr was riding fence a long way from the Hour-Glass ranch house.

(Now Go On With The Story)

At the sound of hoof-beats on the trail, man and girl looked up.

"Hello," he said. "Here comes some one."

She gave a quick glance at the oncoming horse, a towering black, and turned a pretty shudder.

"It's no one I want to see," she said coolly. "It's just a horse being taken into connection with that stolen cow. It's Mr. Dustin of the Broken Spur."

The black shouldered through the tangle by the pool and rushed the water, and the rider caught sight of the two above him. The next moment he jerked his horse back on his haunches, knelt him out of the pool and forced him through the brush to Edith's side.

"I'm glad to see you, Edith," he said. "You're out early, aren't you?" His quick glance told him Stone, sitting awkwardly in his saddle, looking straight ahead of him into space. "I gun-muzzled down into line with his hip. Even a 'store gun' can hit at seven feet."

"If you try that," said Stone grimly. "I'll sure plug you dead-center, see your father's haunched pants and wire down here to fence Soda Springs. Sorry, but I can't allow that till the courts have decided."

"Till they have decided, the Springs are ours," she said hotly. "I fear I've seen too much." She nodded at the dun cow and the calf. "It just happens that I can swear to that cow in any court of law."

"Fast? Well, I guess are pretty expensive amendments for the Hour-Glass. It'll only need a little sense to straighten this mess out. It needs a judge and twelve jurors to take the Soda Springs away from your father. Justice of the peace or a priest can give them back." In five minutes, if you say the word."

For fully a minute she did not understand what he meant. Then her face went white under her tan and her head hung high. Her red lips had paled and her eyes seemed to emit little sparks as she turned to Stone.

"Did you hear that, Mr. Stone?" she called. There was a fighting edge to her voice that thrilled Duro to his inmost fiber. "Mr. Dustin, if I have not misunderstood him, has offered to withdraw his suit to the courts, and what we own. These Springs, He will do this if I go before a justice of the peace or a priest and become one of his women. A legal one, I understand. I feel I need some advice. You are disinterested. What would you suggest? With me, I mean what we own."

Dustin, appalled, uttered a hot oath. He had thought she would at least take the matter under consideration. He regarded Stone no more than one of the ponies but he felt ashamed. Edith's words, her manner, her whole demeanor cut him like knives.

Stone's face was impassive. No one would ever have guessed that under that exterior his blood was leaping like molten lava. God, how this girl could fight. With a wife she would some day make!

"You see," she said, "he would only offer that to get what he can never get but by purchase. A wife. No sane person would let his life to him except for gain. He has one establishment in Sepulchre. He..."

"Oh, here!" Stone roared a hand. "It's not my business, Miss Edith."

"By God! You and she have made it yours," shouted Dustin. The last vest of self-control gave way and the dam burst "Marry you? Yes, I did offer it. I'm a fool. I don't have to marry you, you red-headed firebrand. You'll be glad enough some day to have any man give you his name. Don't forget that when you put your foot of a father in the County Poorhouse. You didn't like to have me tie my horse to the Hour-Glass tie-rack but you can trample over the hills with any bit of human tumble-weed that turns up to forget its own lineage. No wonder people talk about you..."

He got no further. Stone flung out of saddle and in one movement his iron grip closed on Dustin's off-foot. The Household Cavalry in London streets know that grip. Cleverly used, it can hamstring any horseman who ever sat in saddle; provided only that he is unprepared.

Dustin was totally unprepared. There is but one guard for that clutch. The rider must let his gripped leg go loose. He must let it swing up and over the horse's back. He must pivot on his other foot. There is no real guard. There is a counter-attack. The rider swings back into saddle and his free foot drives down like a pile-driver on the defenseless head of an attacker. But Dustin did not know this. He struggled and his own weight added to his catastrophe. Stone heaved at his ankle, raised it chin-high, and the next moment Dustin, with a queer yell that almost strangled him, was rolling in the deepest part of the pool with his horse atop, while Stone, his eyes alight, watched him from the bank.

"Sorry I had to do it," he said. "You just asked for it when you spoke to Miss Edith like that. No, you didn't. You did."

Dustin's hand stopped midway to his holster as Stone's nickel-plated Hands up.

Dustin's hands went high in air and the dripping pony struggled to the bank, where Edith was holding her head in both hands. It had all happened so quickly that she had not comprehended.

"Come on out of your sea-foam, you... you bloomin' Venus," said Stone. "You ain't mad to look at right now."

As Dustin struggled up the slippery bank, Stone snatched the gun from the wet holster and flung it back into the pool. Then he struck the black on the haunch with his hat and sent him at a gallop into the scrub.

"You can walk home and cool your caliente cabaza (hot head)," he said. "Come on, Miss Edith. Let's head for home."

She drove her spurs in to the rowel seats and sent the astonished pony at a gallop through the scrub and waited for him at the entrance to the open trail.

"You've made a dead end," she said breathlessly. "You must never forget that man. He is more deadly than a rattlesnake..."

"Uh-hur..." He was obviously inattentive and it angered her. "Mind what I'm saying!" she snapped. "That man will kill you if he gets a chance."

"He won't have a chance," he said casually. "I was just wondering..."

Again she drove in her spurs and took the gallop and the two swept in a glorious rush to the horse corral of the Hour-Glass.

Once inside the ranch-house, Corral must have told a rather complete story, for Crews tackled Stone when they were alone by the water-trough in the corral that evening.

"Son," said Crews, "you're sure as green as hell, but the Hour-Glass owes you a debt for what you did this afternoon to that damned cur, Dustin. Edith told her father and me."

"Did he say anything about that cow and calf that started the mess?"

"Sure she did. How did they start it?"

"That man Dustin had just done brandin' 'em," said the amateur puncher. "When his horse come out of the water I noticed that the chinch ring was all newly blackened by fire. He'd been usin' that to change the brands."

"Eh, that's queer. You... a amateur at that? All right... but you take it to me. Look out for Sam Dustin. He'll get you if he kin."

"Sure," said Duro Stone. "That's fair. If he can. Let it go that."

CHAPTER VI

Frank Crews, coming out of his room, stood looking over the wide range behind the ranch-house of the Hour-Glass. He was disturbed over what Stone had told him the night before and he had thought much about this new employee. Stone was apparently honest. He was a glutton for work and there was something likable about him. But Crews was suspicious at heart in all matters affecting the Hour-Glass. He sighted Lee heading for the kitchen and halted him.

"Send that new man Stone to me," he said.

The bunk-house took the word and presently Duro shot out of the open door, setting the Hour-Glass. Crews grinned amiably at him.

"Look-a-here, Stone," he said. "I forgot all that you told me last night. I ain't too durned good to remember much sometimes. I'm goin' to forget 'till we can find some proof. Mind you, I don't expect you to find any proof but I just dassent start a civil war on the range unless and until I got my gun loaded. Old man Carr is too old to pick a row with this man Dustin even over Edith. You see that? We're tryin' to locate this man Keene, who owns the other half of the Hour-Glass. Till we find him, we can't do much but watch and wait. I'll tellin' you this so you'll see right where we stand. If you feel like keepin' on here at the Hour-Glass, we want you. We want all men who'll be loyal to their salt. That's about all, I reckon."

He strode away to his breakfast and Duro wandered back to the bunkhouse.

"Loyal to his salt..." That was the word. He reflected that he had come here to the Hour-Glass to find out what was wrong and he was finding out with a vengeance. It was Dustin... All Dustin! But so far he could show no proof. There was no ground yet for any action. He must wait.

In the meantime there was... Edith.

That experience over by Soda Springs had given her a confidence in the new employee that she was sure was not misplaced. She accepted him, since that day, at his face value and sometimes she flushed at the thought that she awake to the fact that she seemed to have always known him. She liked him, too. True, he was densely ignorant of all the ranch life that she knew; true, at twenty-five he had no settled business; he had admitted that to her, but... Oh, well! She stopped her analysis at his point and went for her pony.

The bunk-house accepted Stone frankly... yet wondered at him. Technically, he was as ignorant of ranch life as any tenderfoot. Yet he could ride... after a fashion (they never suspected the truth) it was as to appear awkward and they grinned a little at Edith's frankly proffered friendship.

"You'll be wantin' a permanent mount," said Crews. "Better take that big Isabella horse in the far corral. If you take time to gentle him, he'll make you a good mount."

Stone knew and had coveted that horse, a half-bred, bigger than most and made of steel and whalebone. Crews watched his new hand catch his new horse and laughed a little at his awkwardness.

It took him days to master that horse, for months of idleness had filled him with an equine devil and he knew no master. When Duro Stone shot out of saddle to land twenty feet away on feet and hands, the bunk-house laughed... All but Red Thom, who screwed an inquiring eye as the limp figure that rolled away like a shot rabbit as the horse fell.

Jail Chapel Now Theatre

Will Be Used By Manitoba's Civil Service Dramatic Society

Through the doorway, which not long ago was opened only to lead condemned prisoners to the gallows, soon will trip a group of young Theatians, members of a theatre guild, whose lifting laughter and sprightly quips will banish memories of the place that once constituted the scene.

The doorway is the entrance to what was once the death cell in Manitoba's disused provincial jail. It is being transformed into a theatre where the Civil Service Dramatic Society will present plays.

Manitoba government civil servants some weeks ago decided to open their own Little Theatre and were granted use of space in the jail by Hon. W. J. Major, K.C., attorney-general. Officers have been elected and the society will shortly begin production.

Once known as the "Vaughan St. Jail", the prison has been remodelled into a provincial government office building. A wide lawn outside the entrance door was, once a dreary prison yard enclosed by a formidable fence. Here the gallows were erected.

The death cell will be used as a dressing room by the players. The prison chapel, where prisoners once sang hymns under the watchful eyes of their guards, will be the theatre.

Fifty Tons Of Diamonds

Precious Stones Owned In World Worth Fabulous Sum

On women's necks and fingers, in the treasure stores of Indian princes; in bank vaults and family safes, there are to-day more than fifty tons of cut diamonds. This immense quantity of precious stones owned by the public throughout the world weighs approximately 250,000,000 carats, and is valued at nearly $70,000,000,000. The industry employs more than 500,000 men in the mining districts; 25,000 cutters throughout the world; 10,000 dealers in unset stones, and probably another 100,000 in jewelers' shops. Although the market for unset stones is still somewhat limited, since the depression, the sale of small diamonds is increasing. For one thing, they are cheap now, and form a good investment.

TO GARNER MEMORIES

O, I would garner memories
From every land on Earth,
The best the last when I sit down
Beside my quiet hearth.
To fold my hands and nod and dream
Above the embers there,
I can see Alpine peaks agleam
Or breathe Spahn's amber air.

I shall not mind the loneliness,
Though time goes slipping by,
For I shall wait the Bund again
And hear the sea-gulls' cry;
And I shall see the Southern Cross
Aflame just as tonight,
As clearly then shall I behold
Monroe's red fortress light.
So while I'm sailing overseas
To islands far away,
I treasure up bright memories
Against a distant day.

Fooling The Poachers

Indians In Minnesota Get Even With White Hunters

The red men of the Red Lake reservation at Bemidji, Minnesota, are having a lot of fun these days with white hunters who poach by night on their game preserves. They nail glass eyes on the trees. Under a light an artificial optical glow exactly like deer's eyes and the hunters are banging away all night long. In the morning the Indians enjoy a hearty laugh at the expense of the would-be poachers who failed to realize that all that glitters by night in a deer forest is not deer's eyes.

Like Styles Up-To-Date

Chinese Women Favor Clothes And Not Bodices

Women's penchant for change is driving Chinese pawnshops in Shanghai out of business. Chinese ladies in that city are in the habit of pawnning their clothes after a brief period of wear in order to get money to buy something more up-to-date in style. They never redeem their garments but the pawnbroker has to wait 18 months before he can sell the clothes pledged with him. By that time they are so out of fashion that he can't sell them. The result of the rapid change in feminine styles of dress has been that in the last year 13 Shanghai pawnshops have closed their doors. All have the same reason for their bankruptcy—that is, their inability to sell feminine clothes that have gone out of fashion.

Humors Of The Law

Some Queer Things Are Forbidden In United States

The law may or may not be an ass but it is in many states a humorist. In parent or guardian, in Georgia a dentist can be fined for being guilty of cruelty and in Kansas a policeman can run you in if he catches you eating "makes, lizards, scorpions, centipedes or tarantulas" in public. But you can fry them to your heart's or your stomach's content in your own kitchen.
